Cincinnati has become an American Venice. Boats are in passing up and down the principal streets.

Wiggin's almanac will not sell well unless his weather predictions are better than one time in fifteen.

The funeral obsequies of the late Governor Smith took place in Milwaukee on Thursday and it is safe to say it was one of the largest funerals ever known in the state.

Report from St. Paul this afternoon says that the thermometer is six degrees below zero, and snow is falling. As the snow was coming this way, we may expect a change here by to-morrow.

The floods on the Ohio still continue, water being nearly five feet above the memorable high water mark of 1832. It is feared that the worst has not yet come, and that the loss of life and property will be largely increased.

Congress is bound to keep the Indians good lighting trim, and therefore $345,000 will be appropriated to supply with gun and cows 2,680 families of Sioux Indians who have gone to farming at various agencies, in accordance with the stipulations of the Sioux treaty of 1835.

When Charles R. Thorpe died last week, Herbert G. Ingersoll sent a dispatch to his friends as follows: "The tragedy has ended, the curtain has fallen. Applause cannot lift it again, but memory and hope remain."

Which the later comes remarks: "He who lifts the curtain and gives the living chance at the future. Hope rests upon him, and it is among the last sparks that in the human breast. Such sentiments lead to the belief that there is yet hope even for the genial, warm-hearted, earnest individual, Pope Bob."

The legislature adjourned over from Thursday to Monday that the members who accompany the governor and other officers to Milwaukee to attend the funeral services of the late Governor Smith. The Journal says that five additional coaches were attached to the regular 8:30 passenger train on the Chicago & Northwestern for Milwaukee, this morning, to accommodate Governor Rusk and other state officers, the judges of the supreme and United States courts, the members of both branches of the legislature, and other prominent persons who are desirous of attending the funeral.

The Milwaukee Sentinel publishes the following on the wolf scalp industry in Grant county: "Grant county ranks among the banner counties of the state the production of wolf scalps. The number of young wolves whose scalps are sent up from that region for bounties has given rise to the charge that wolf-killing is one of the regular industries here. A veteran hunter explains in the Grant County Herald that while the scalps of the young wolves bring $5 and those of the old ones $12, it hardly pays to kill off the latter. He thinks the bounty on old wolves should be raised to $25, and that the result would be the extermination of the animals." But, with such an incentive to delay, we fear that the hunters of Grant county would hesitate to kill a young wolf when by sparing him in a year or two he would be a $50 prize animal. If all bounties were repealed, the people of Grant allow their bounty to be overrun with wolves."

There has never been a death in Wisconsin probably excepting that of Matt Carpenter, that has caused such general sorrow as that of Governor William E. Smith. The following from the Madison Democrat shows the spirit of the opposition press to him, and the sentiment expressed in this article, is the sentiment that prevails throughout the state:

"William E. Smith bore a stainless character. Against his good name there was no charge. In private life he was a tireless worker, a successful business man, a good neighbor, an exemplary husband and father, a Christian gentleman. In his long public service he never neglected a duty nor betrayed a trust. He was upright, conscientious, an ardent patriot, a courageous executive. He never treated a public trust lightly nor trifled with a task. He acquitted himself of every duty with thoroughness and zeal. Gov. Smith's character furnished a rare model for the young men who knew him. He demonstrated to the world that honorable manhood is the greatest and best attainment of life; that a constant integrity is not a faded extravagance; that the highest honor comes from fidelity, and that plodding virtue is the foundation upon which to build character."

They had nearly a month's talk in congress on the tariff bill, and the more they have talked the less hope there is of passing the bill. The time for adjournment is so near at hand that it is impossible to pass either the senate or the house bill, unless, possibly, that it shall not all debate and go to work and vote. In order to expedite matters, Mr. Kosson, of Iowa, offered a resolution cutting off all debate, but the democrats and a few republicans as well, opposed it. The only chance to get a tariff bill through congress is suggested by the Chicago Journal, and that is to accept the senate bill without much modification, and put it through under the whip, after a limited time for debate. There are several good and sufficient reasons for such a course: (1) Because the bill now pending in the house, which was reported by the committee of ways and means, and known as the Kelley bill, cannot by any possibility be passed; and (2) because the debate in the senate has been very thorough and complete as to details, and all has been said pro and con that will throw any light upon the question. The presumption also is that the members of the house have followed this debate on the senate bill, and are already prepared to vote upon it without further discussion.

A CONFESSION.

Rendell Enters a Plea of Guilty, And Throws Himself Upon the Mercy of the Court.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—In the star-route trial yesterday, after the cross-examination of Postmaster Lounsbury, of Birmingham, Rendell, and, in a clear voice, said: "If the court please, I desire to make a statement in my own behalf."

A profound silence prevailed for a moment; the court looked surprised, but counsel for defense seemed to be prepared for the blow about to follow. The court finally said: "You can make it."

Rendell then proceeded to read rapidly the following statement: "If the court please, I desire to make a statement in person and in my own behalf. After mature reflection and full consideration of the whole subject, I have determined to abandon any further defense in this case, and put myself at the mercy of the court and government, and, if desired to do so by counsel for the government, to testify to all my knowledge of any facts with reference to any of the defendants, either against or for them, myself included. Therefore, I now, in person, ask leave to withdraw my plea of not guilty heretofore interposed, and enter my plea of guilty, and in so doing put myself on the mercy of the court."

This is somewhat unexpected, I presume," said William (Rendell's counsel). "Rendell has exercised the right that belongs to himself, and nothing is left for me to do but to withdraw from the case, or, at least, from further participation in the case."

The court: "The defendant, who has just spoken, desires to withdraw his plea of not guilty. The clerk will make the entry."

The court remarked: "Mr. Rendell, I suppose, will withdraw his plea of not guilty. The court will pass no order at present."

Rendell and his counsel then left the room, and the interview between himself and Brady. Rendell testified that he was appointed to a position under the district government, and at the same time acted as Senator Dorsey's secretary. Minor had an office in the same building, Dorsey's house in January, and February, 1870. Boone, Watts, and Senator Dorsey were frequenters of Minor's office. By direction of Senator Dorsey, witness assisted Minor in fixing up proposals and in the amount in dollars and cents, and Senator Dorsey and Boone were present part of the time this was going on.

In December, 1878, witness had a conversation with Minor about the book at his home on C street. Minor showed him the book, and told him who did the figures. He said the figures were in Senator Dorsey's handwriting. One morning in June, 1878, witness went to Dorsey's house at his request. Dorsey had before him a large number of witnesses, and he asked him to go to the witness and ask him if he knew what they meant. Witness read about a dozen. They were communications from the post-office department addressed to Dorsey, Boone, Minor, and perhaps Watts. Dorsey asked him to take charge of the business and witness carried them down to the office in the District building. Dorsey intended to take away the business from Boone, who was then attending to it. He saw Dorsey again on the night following. He told him he thought he could attend to the business, and he gave him the information. Dorsey instructed him to go to Boone's house and get all the papers connected with the business. Boone, he said, would understand what papers were wanted. Witness did as he was directed and got a large case of pigeon holes full of papers. He took them to Minor's room in Dorsey's house and devoted all his spare time to the business of sorting and putting the letters to contractors and others. About July 5, or 10, Dorsey asked him if he would like to go west. Witness replied in the affirmative, and by Dorsey's direction he put in an application for leave of absence. Dorsey said that he would see that he got it. Witness was to go west to assist John W. Dorsey in putting services on the B. & M. and Tongue River route. He left Washington July 11. He received instructions and $1,500 from Dorsey before leaving. Dorsey also went with him to the Senate chamber, where he signed the firm's name, John W. Dorsey & Co., upon the books, and when witness returned he negotiated three checks upon the Treasury signed John W. Dorsey & Co., and indorsed S. W. Dorsey. He did not remember whether Minor or himself had the notes. He used nearly all the money for stocking the Tongue River route. Altogether, $5,000 was used for this purpose. Before witness went west Dorsey furnished him with postal blanks and told him to establish a station off to one side of the route, about sixty miles and put in applications to have it upon the route. It was calculated that this would make up for the distance lost through one-sided favoritism. The witness made connection at St. Paul. While waiting he met John W. Dorsey in a hotel. John Dorsey took him down to the stables and showed him Dorsey's horses. They went on together to Bismarck, and with the assistance of John Dorsey and Pennel witness proceeded to buy grain, stock, camp utensils and other necessities. He was prepared and started to build ranches and dig wells. Witness selected the site for the proposed station, and even picked out a place for a new post-office, but knew nothing about the inhabitants at that place. "It was a paper post-office," asked the court. The witness answered affirmatively.

The report was circulated yesterday afternoon that Stephen W. Dorsey, as soon as Rendell had announced his intention of becoming a witness for the prosecution, had left the city for parts unknown. Mr. Dorsey is still here, and was last evening at the residence of Col. Ingersoll, where there was a conference with his attorneys relative to the course to be taken with regard to Rendell's testimony. Rendell's action is not a surprise to the defense. They have expected him to take the course he has taken for some time. They do not care so much for what he has to say as they do for what he has in his possession in the way of documentary evidence, and Rendell has documents which will substantiate about all he has to say. These documents alarm Dorsey and his counsel. They contained it is alleged, evidence stronger than that that has yet been made public of the existence of a conspiracy.

The Tribune in Indian Territory.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—Latest advices from Indian territory say that the previous announcement that General Porter, commander of the "Constitutional party," had left Oklahoma with 400 men for the camp of Spioche, was premature. He has not yet taken the field. United States Agent Telford has notified Chepote that if he does not comply with the law within a given time, he will report him to the interior department as a rebel against the Creek nation. Chepote and Spioche have had a conference, but no settlement of difficulties between the factions was effected.

An Ex-Governor of Kansas on Temperance.

New York, Feb. 16.—The Hon. John P. St. John, ex-governor of Kansas, spoke at a meeting held in Cooper Union under the auspices of the State Prohibition association. The audience numbered about half of the hall. He made a long and able speech, in which he pointed out the evils of intemperance, and the necessity of a given time, he will report him to the interior department as a rebel against the Creek nation. Chepote and Spioche have had a conference, but no settlement of difficulties between the factions was effected.

BRADLAUGH.

Popular Demonstration at Charing Cross—Representatives from Four Hundred Towns.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—A great popular demonstration was made yesterday at Charing Cross, in favor of the claim of Charles Bradlaugh to a seat in the house of commons, to which he was re-elected from Northampton borough, in March last. Delegates from the London workmen's clubs and others representing 400 provincial towns were present. Bradlaugh, in his speech at the meeting, announced that it was mentioned to the house of commons by 4 o'clock in the afternoon about the bill allowing those members to make affirmation who desire to do so, instead of taking the usual parliamentary oath, he should then take his seat in the house.

THE BONAPARTISTS.

Statements of the Ex-Empress Eugenie and Prince Jerome Napoleon.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The Times publishes an authoritative statement regarding the interview Tuesday between the Ex-Empress Eugenie and Prince Jerome Napoleon, which it says, has cleared up some private misunderstandings existing between the ex-empress and the prince, and led to a formal recognition of the latter as the head of the Bonaparte family. The ex-empress was not called upon to express an opinion regarding her kinsman's general policy, and could not, consistently, with the life of policy adopted by her while journeying in Great Britain, do more than assure her kinsman of her best wishes for any constitutional action he may take toward bringing about a republic. The recent visit of the Empress to Paris was a mark of sympathy with Prince Napoleon on account of the liberal policy he has adopted in the views of his manifesto. She disclaimed participation in any unlawful or clandestine enterprise against the republic, and in the same manner disclaimed any part in the late election of the prince to the presidency of the republic. The prince is banished by his position in favor of the republic. The latter was not a member of the manifesto, but there is no antagonism between him and his father.

Senator Ferry Withdraws from the Race.—The Bribery Investigation.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 16.—In yesterday's ballot Messrs. Richardson, Whiting, Parke, Rappelle, Robinson, union members, voted for Ferry. Senator White and Representatives Rosa, Shepard and Snyder deserted him. The result of the ballot was: Ferry, 47; Newton, 29; Cutcheon, 7; Burrows, 11; Willetts, 9; Manchett, 1; Stout, 5; Begole, 2; Palmer, 3; Hannan, 2; O. M. Barnes, 6; Withers, 1; Lacey, 1; W. Van Dusen, 1; Lathrop, 1; Stockbridge, 1. In the bribery investigation Major W. G. Thompson, of Detroit, swore positively that Ferry had personally promised him the Detroit custom house in consideration of his support and aid in getting Ferry elected to the legislature. The testimony creates great excitement.

Late in the afternoon the Ferry men, forty-three strong, held a caucus and thirteen withdrew. The thirty remaining then voted to actively everywhere from the caucus obligation, and Ferry's flag was hauled down. Stockbridge is now in the field, and so are Burrows, Willets and plenty of others. Palmer will be as soon as he gets formal notice of Ferry's being out of the field. The Democrats have held a caucus and agreed to vote solid for Judge William Newton. It is now a grand go-as-you-please race, with nobody barred.

Special and Important Notice to the Public.

The manager of the Gazette takes pleasure in making the announcement that the price of the Daily Gazette has been reduced to $1.50 a quarter, 50 cents a month, or one shilling a week, commencing February 1st, thus placing it within the reach of every family in the city and making it by all odds the cheapest daily newspaper published in the state.

He also gives the notice that the city circulation of the Gazette has been placed in the hands of Mr. Will H. Cheney, an active and an accomplished gentleman with whom our readers and business men are well acquainted. He will see that there shall be a thorough, prompt, and satisfactory delivery of the paper to the subscribers, and will collect arrears thereon, and also all other accounts due the Gazette Printing Company.

It will be the chief purpose of the manager of the Gazette to make the paper the best daily for the price published in the west. It has gained a wide reputation as a live and complete local and county newspaper, as well as urging and defending the principles in our political system which most fully subserve the best interests of all the people. In addition to this, the Daily Gazette will publish each day from five to six columns of fresh telegraphic news covering the entire field of current events, besides daily installments of interesting miscellany. In short, it will be such a newspaper for the family as will entitle it to the name of "a welcome visitor."

All those who paid in advance for the Gazette will have their subscription extended to meet the new rates hereby adopted.

Will it Really Cure Rheumatism?

We answer, honor bright, it will cure rheumatism, and the severest cases too. Dr. Williams' Electric Oil was specially prepared for the rheumatic and lame. Notice letters from the people relative to its merits in nearly every paper in the country. Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.

Public Library Opening.

The ladies of the public library association hope that the friends of this enterprise will remember that Saturday, February 17th has been fixed upon as opening or public library day. All are cordially invited to call at the library rooms without any formality, at any time between the hours of 2 and 9 p. m. On Monday the 19th, the library and reading room will be open to the public for the distribution of books.

A Comparison.

The Madison Democrat, of Wednesday, publishes a statement showing the amount of taxes collected in that city for the past ten years, and says: "It is undeniable that the taxes in this city are greatly in excess of what they should be, and in excess of our neighboring cities and towns. The reasons for this are various, but chiefly because the council has been so limited by a percentage tax for all purposes, that the assessor has been obliged to make an extremely high assessment to enable the council to raise money to properly carry on the city government. It is estimated that this percentage system has cost the city a hundred thousand dollars or more, and it is high time it was repealed."

Madison and Janesville being so near equal in population and wealth, a comparison of the tax levy of the two cities will be of some interest to tax-payers, and for the purpose of such a comparison we will here give the taxes levied in Madison for the past ten years, which includes both state, county, and municipal:

Table with 4 columns: Year, State, County, City. Shows tax levies from 1874 to 1883.

The total taxes levied in this city for the same years is as follows:

Table with 4 columns: Year, City, State, Total. Shows total tax levies from 1874 to 1883.

These figures will be of great interest to tax payers who are in the habit of finding fault with our city authorities for an extravagant outlay of public funds. Compared with the taxes of Madison, or any other city in the west, the showing is greatly to our credit.

about "Burr Robbins' Scheme."

Under this heading an article appeared in the Milwaukee Sentinel which does Mr. Robbins great injustice. One paragraph in particular, puts words in Mr. Robbins' mouth which were never spoken, and which he would not speak for any money consideration. Mr. Robbins is represented as saying that in the embellishments of some of his wags, he wanted the Savior painted while suffering the most intense agony, while in the garden of Gethsemane, and the thicker the agony was put on the better. Of course this would shock the moral sense of a large majority in the community, but they could not possibly think it more out of place or more sacrilegious than Mr. Robbins' himself. He has never yet resorted to that questionable scheme in advertising, and never will. His convictions on that point are as deeply rooted as those of any person can be, and any thing that tends to make mockery of religion or that caricatures such a sacred thing as the suffering of the Savior in the Garden, has his thorough condemnation. Never once has he resorted to such an advertising dodge, and money cannot induce him to deal so lightly with a sacred subject. All such schemes he condemns from principle, and will not depart from it under any consideration. We say this much for Mr. Robbins because in justice to him it ought to be said. He can win success without employing such means as are ascribed to him by the Sentinel, and he proposes to do it.

A Gentle Voice.

Our enterprising druggists, Stearns & Baker, have secured the agency for the sale of Dr. Bigelow's Positive Cure, which has no superior for coughs, colds, consumption, whooping cough, and all throat and lung diseases. To prove to you it has no equal, call at Stearns & Baker's drug store and get a bottle free.

The Tennesseeans.

Donavin's Famous Tennesseeans, who gave an entertainment at Lappin's music hall last evening, were greeted with a full house. The songs and choruses were of the old plantation order, but were rendered in a manner that drew forth great applause from the audience, at the conclusion of each number. While their singing will not compare with the famous Fisk Jubilee singers, or the original Tennesseeans, they did not disappoint the expectations of the audience. Mr. W. H. Thompson, the basso, has a voice of wonderful volume, which lacks cultivation, and we heard many complimentary remarks expressed in the manner in which he rendered several parts of the programme. The M. E. church society must have netted quite a sum by the entertainment.

Municipal Court.

The jury in the case of the state vs. James Murry, this morning, found the defendant guilty on the charge of an assault with intent to do great bodily harm. The judge has not yet passed sentence in the case. The penalty is from one to three years in state prison, or a fine of from $100 to $500, or imprisonment for the county jail not more than one year.

An assault and battery case from Magnolia was settled this afternoon by the defendant, Mr. Edwin Setzer being found guilty, fined $7 and costs, $14.15—$21.15, which was paid. Mr. George W. Acheson was the complaining witness.

State vs. Henry Loomis, charged with the larceny of a stick of timber from C. T. Wilcox, was on trial this afternoon, and had not been concluded at three o'clock. The defendant puts in evidence that he purchased the timber from Dr. Horne last October.

State vs. T. O'Rourke, charged with assault and battery upon John Kelly, is also set for trial this afternoon, but had not been called at the hour of going to press.

Banks fail, insurance companies fail but Collins' Cherry Cough Cure never fails. It does not cure consumption, coughs or colds, but it will cure a cough, cold or croup, and it is pleasant, safe, certain, cheap, and is sold by Prentice & Erverson.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Asa G. Ransom, of Bradford, Falls Dead While in Emerald Grove.

The sad news reached this city this forenoon of the sudden death of Mr. A. G. Ransom, of the town of Bradford, in this county, which occurred in Emerald Grove yesterday afternoon, the particulars of which, are as follows: Mr. Ransom had been in the city in the forenoon attending to some business matters, and in the afternoon started for his home, upon section 9 in the town of Bradford. On reaching Emerald Grove, the place of receiving his mail, he stopped and hitched his horses in front of the store to visit the postoffice, while standing by his team, he was seen to fall suddenly to the ground on his face. He was carried immediately in the store and Dr. Seaber was sent for, who arrived in less than five minutes. All efforts to revive him failed, the breath of life had departed. The remains were immediately taken to his former home, messengers having gone before to break the sad intelligence to the family. A dispatch was instantly sent to his son, Ensign Ransom, in Dakota, and the two daughters in Milton school were telephoned and arrived home the same night. Dr. Seaber pronounced the cause of death a derangement in the action of the heart. Mr. Ransom was about sixty years of age and one of our foremost farmers and leading citizens of this county, having been a resident since 1845.

The deceased was born in Otego county, New York, March 3d, 1823, and came to Wisconsin, locating in Waushara, in 1843, and two years after coming to Rock county, where he has since resided. He had held many offices of honor and trust in his town, having served six years as chairman of the supervisors, two years as assessor, and justice of the peace for ten years. He leaves besides his widow, five children, three boys and two girls, to mourn his sudden taking away, and an extensive acquaintance, who deeply sympathize with the bereaved family. The arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

Seeking Further.

It is said an old philosopher sought an honest man with a lighted lantern, and humanity has since been seeking an honest medicine by the light of knowledge. It is at length found that Dr. Jones' Red Clover blood purifier removes pimples, and cures promptly upon the liver and urinary organs. Only 50 cents a bottle, to be sold at Stearns & Baker's.

The Weather.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVANSON, DRUGGISTS. At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 44 degrees above zero, and at one o'clock p. m. at 43 degrees above. Raining during the entire forenoon, with westerly wind. For the same time one year ago, the register was 41 and 38 degrees above.

The weak, worn, and dyspeptic should take Colden's Liquid Beef Tonic. No other. Of Druggists.

Grins.

Pleasant, healthy grins are seen only on the faces of healthy persons. The dyspeptic and debilitated can smile only in a half-hearted way. Purify the blood, tone the stomach, and strengthen the tissues with Burdock Blood Bitters, if you wish to laugh well and often.

Sold by Palmer & Stevens and Sherer & Co.
